Enjoying Lake Conroe

With stay-at-home orders being lifted, school ending early, and summer here, the number of boats on Lake Conroe waters increases every single day. The lake level is bobbing at 200 feet above mean sea level (msl), which is one foot down from the conservation pool level of 201 feet msl. As always, with any level, there is the need to keep an eye out for water hazards. With the start of boating season, the San Jacinto River Authority (SJRA) wants to remind boaters of some basic water safety rules.

SJRA Rehabilitation of Bear Branch Gravity Main Project Update

Over time infrastructure needs to be evaluated for repairs and improvements. As the operator of three wastewater treatment plants that serve the needs of Municipal Utility Districts (MUDs) throughout The Woodlands, the San Jacinto River Authority (SJRA) began improving the Bear Branch Gravity Main wastewater collection system in early 2020. When completed, the structural integrity of the more than 2.5 miles of pipe and associated manholes in the Village of Cochran's Crossing will be restored, preventing aquifer groundwater and stormwater from entering the collection system through possible leaking joints and manhole covers.

The San Jacinto River Authority's mission is to develop, conserve, and protect the water resources of the San Jacinto River basin. Covering all or part of seven counties, the organization's jurisdiction includes the entire San Jacinto River watershed, excluding Harris County. The SJRA is one of two dozen river authorities in the State of Texas, and like other river authorities, its primary purpose is to implement long-term, regional projects related to water supply and wastewater treatment. SJRA receives no money from the state, nor does it collect any type of taxes.
